Benefits of Soft Resin Shilajit

Natural Fulvic Acid for Cleansing and Rejuvenation

Fulvic acid is a naturally-occurring “janitor” that quenches undesirable particles in the soil and water, making them inert. In fact, these interesting chemical properties have led researchers to investigate the fulvic acid's potential as a cellular cleansing agent.

The acid helps maintain cellular homeostasis being a reservoir of many nutrients. These properties help cells to regenerate and function at their best, which is what makes you feel energetic and vibrant. Speaking of skincare, fulvic acid has been shown to permeate through all levels of the skin, improving the skin's beauty.

Not to say that Shilajit and fulvic acid can make you immortal, but they sure do help promote a more graceful aging process.

Trace Mineral Compensation for Depleted Food

Unfortunately, way too many food nowadays are deficient in trace minerals and organic nutrients! This is a result of poor quality soils, environmental pollution and stress. These may negatively influence our body's nutritional resources and energy levels, which is why many modern day people complain about poor quality food.

Shilajit is nature's gift for rejuvenating your diet with its wealth of trace minerals (more than 80!). In fact, fulvic acid is well known for promoting easy absorption and a ballanced gut environment.

and immunity

We all know that metabolism is complex and crucial for our everyday life. When a simple step goes awry, our quality of life can creep in easily. Shilajit provides a variety of compounds that are beneficial for improving metabolism, such as by boosting active enzymes that catalyze metabolic reactions. An important subset of these reactions is involved in your immune defense.

Shilajit naturally promotes the state of body balance and rejuvenation. Humic acid, fulvic acid, and trace minerals found in shilajit aid metabolism for better body performance balancing body functions including those of the immune and nervous systems.

Circulation and Nutrient Absorption

Red blood cells are crucial for our survival by providing efficient oxygen transport. They are tasked with the timely removal of CO₂ and lactic acid from our muscles. When blood circulation is poor, you will find that the body feels more sluggish, sore, and colder. Shilajit provides many nutrients that might be used as building blocks for blood cell production to support circulation.

Apart from oxygen, our cells need a range of elements to power various processes constantly. This will require high bioavailability of the foods that we consume and an efficient digestive system. Shilajit is an excellent helper in this process by providing fulvic acid. Fulvic acid acts as a carrier in your body, helping with the fast transportation of nutrients into all corners of the body.

Why Should We Use Shilajit Resin?

If you are craving for a natural supplement that contains truly wellbeing promoting ingredients, Himalayan shilajit is a rare and perfect addition to your lifestyle. It has never been more important that we start replacing modern day processed products with natural
